Aloisio Presents Ownership Scroll As Some 225 Persons View Ceremony

Some 225 residents of the town of Athabasca and surrounding area gathered at the Pleasant Valley Lodge on Wednesday, Nov. 9th, to participate in the opening ceremonies. Through the plans of the Alberta government, 31 such homes for Senior Citizens were opened throughout Alberta at the same time.

Promptly at 2:30 p.m. William Kruger, the first resident to make application for entrance to the Lodge, cut the ribbon and allowed those gathered on the entrance walk to pass through the doors.

Following a brief tour of inspection in the immediate lounge areas, the people attending settled themselves in comfortable chairs throughout the main lounge on the west, the north lounge and the dining room to listen to the musical selections presented by the Athabasca High School band under the direction of John Long.

County Council Learns Snow Plows Available For Winter Works Plans

As is so frequently the case as the year draws to a close, buisness at the county meeting was more or less routine, there were no delegations and work was processed quickly.

A letter was read from the auditors regarding the recent audit.

A letter from the department of lands and forests at Slave Lake was read, thanking the county for the co-operation extended during the past season in regard to fire control and expressing the hope it could be continued next year.

Mileage reports for the councillors were requested.

Jack DeDenus, for Construction Equipment Ltd., told the council he had snow plows available and agreed to hold for inspection until the members of the council were in Edmonton during convention.

Letters were read from the department of municipal affairs regarding rural telephone lines; a letter from H. B. Watson regarding elevations on the contingency road at Colinton; a letter in regard to the winter works program.

M. Duniec wrote regarding gravelling his roadway, as it is being used as a turn-around for a school bus. Council decided to notify the bus drivers to turn in the school yard.

A complaint was received that a road was impassable in the Bondiss area and neede gravel.

Permission was granted John Hale to erect a cottage at Lone Pine Beach.

Discussion ensued in regard to lights, water and garbage disposal in the Long Lake subdivision. Opinions were expressed at whether the actual subdivision was in the county or not; whether the road leading to the subdivision was in the county, etc. It was eventually decided that the subdivision was in the county of Athabasca and the road in the county of Thorhild. Council decided that when the time came for services to be needed they would be looked after.

Property transfers were okayed. It was reported the freight sheds at Meanook would be left as they are.

Several seed grain loans were discussed. A few odd lengths of unused concrete culverts were sold. Since the frost seems to affect the concrete culverts more adversely than the steel, the council has been replacing the concrete.

Whether the council would need crushed gravel was discussed. A local contractor has offered to supply at rate comparable to other crushers. The matter was left till later.

Collection of seed grain loans, the treasury branch has given the county to the end of the year and then those outstanding will have to be paid from the general coffers; sale of lands lost for taxes and welfare cases took most of the afternoon.

After supper the accounts were approved for payment.

Dr. D. L. Stewart First Dentist To Participate On Northern Program

Dr. D. L. Stewart of Edmonton was the first dentist to participate in the new public dental health program of bringing basic dental services to the more outlying communities of Alberta where these services are not readily available locally. During the week of October 11 Dr. Stewart visited Fort McMurray, taking with him the Department's transportable dental unit.

Under this program (B) the Alberta Dental Association arranges for the voluntary services of its practicing members to visit such areas to provide basic dental services on a private practice basis to the community at large using transportable dental equipment provided on a loan free basis by the Department of Public Health. A travel grant is also provided by the Department. The local community is asked to make the necessary arrangements for office and personal accommodation for the visiting dentist and the services of someone to assist the dentist with routine officematters.

Five other areas in the province have asked for a similar program. To date two sets of equipment are available and these will be added to as the demand increases.

This program is intended to make basic dental services available locally on a private practice basis in the more outlying communities as a temporary measure until dental services are available on a permanent basis. The local Health Unit Boards and the Medical Officers of Health have been most co-operative in assisting with the planning of these programs.

In addition, any Health Unit is eligible to apply for a dental health grant to establish a preventive dental health program for its area. This program, called Program A, is an integral part of the public health services of the Health Unit and is largely preventive in nature and limited therefore to the younger age group. Fifteen of the twenty five Health Unit areas in the province have budgeted for such a program either on a full-time or a part-time basis. The type of program is determined by the needs and facilities of the area and the availability of dental personnel. Dental services are provided by either full-time dental officers on the staff of the Health Unit or can be arranged for on a temporary short term basis by a roster of practicing dentists who have volunteered their services through the Alberta Dental Association.

EARTH'S MOST POWERFUL CREATURE

That's right. Appearance to the contrary, man is the most powerful creature on the face of the earth.

Man—of all creatures—put his brain to work instead of his muscles, shaping energy sources to his own use and betterment.

In Canada we've put our energy sources to work so well we enjoy one of the world's highest standards of living. Take oil for example. Because it has been made available at reasonable prices wherever it is needed, Canadians use more than 1,000,000 gallons an hour. And speaking of reasonable prices, Imperial Oil gets less for a gallon of gasoline today than it did ten years ago.

Home And School Library Project Prepared By Dominion-Wide Groups

In June, 1959 a library workshop service in schools was held in Edmonton on the university campus immediately following the national convention of the Canadian Library Association. Seven national organizations were co-sponsors but the actual planning and impetus for action must be credited to Miss E. Morton of the Canadian Library Association. The very fact that the professional librarians were so concerned about library service, of the lack of it, in Canadian schools is very significant. The sponsoring organizations were: The Canadian Association of School Inspectors and Superintendents; The Canadian Book Publishers Association; The Canadian Education Association; The Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation; The Canadian Library Association; The Canadian School Trustees Association; The Canadian Teachers Federation; with co-operation and help from The American Association of School Librarians; The American Library Association; The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the National Advisory Council on School Broadcasting.

Three delegates from the National Federation of Home and School and Parent-Teacher Associations attended this workshop, and a joint report was compiled by Mrs. A. P. Hunter and forwarded to the national office This contained some strong recommendations and Mrs. Hunter was asked to prepare a work plan with suggestions for possible action at three levels of Home and School, the local, the provincial and national. This was done and submitted first to the November sub-executive meeting of the CHSPTF. In January the plan was accepted and put under the chairmanship and guidance of the school education chairman, Mrs. R. M. Cowan of Vancouver. The initial plan was slightly changed and presented to the national convention in Banff in May, 1960. Here it was endorsed by the delegates as the project for 1960-61. At the post convention executive meeting, Mrs. A. P. Hunter was appointed chairman of a special committee, The Library Project Committee, and was given the go-ahead. This special committee was placed under the program chairman, J. A. Sands of Nova Scotia.

Since then a national committee and a local working committee in Edmonton have been set up. Help and advice has been obtained from the Canadian Library Association and Provincial Library Associations. In most provinces a special library project convener has been appointed. One questionnaire and two suggestion sheets for the provincial committees have been prepared and distributed.

The Canadian Federation (Home and School) Magazine will feature articles in every issue this year and we hope to make this school year a library services consciousness year for parents and taxpayers.

Cultural Branch Seeks Classrooms

Some community in Alberta will have an opportunity to become the recreational and cultural training centre of the province, if it is one chosen by the cultural activities branch of the provincial secretary's department to become the site of the new Recreational Training School.

The recreational bureau of the branch has annually held its school in Red Deer in premises that are no longer adequate. Bureau officials are now scanning communities in the province to determine where they may find the physical facilities required in the school which last year made a contribution to the economy of Red Deer. Figures show that for the mid-summer four week long recreationalschool the board bill for the 180 students attending was $15,000 which was spent locally.

In addition, a survey revealed that each student spent upwards of $50 on personal expenses during his four week stay. This included outlays for materials ranging from drugs through automotive expenses, florists, clothing and school supplies.

Increasing numbers of courses being required of the branch will result in an almost five month long period of school operation. Peak operation will be the four week long mid-summer recreation school, when residential and board-accommodation, in dormintory form, will be required for up to 200 students. Other courses, such as drama to music and crafts, will be for lesser enrolment and for shorter periods of time.

Facilities required include gymnasium and classroom space which might be provided by schools vacated for summer holidays, and a pool for swimming instruction. Playing field facilities would also be desirable for the school.

Alberta communities seeking location of the school in their area, and who can provide required facilities, should get in touch with Miss E. McFarland, Recreation Supervisor, Cultural Activities Branch, Department of the Provincial Secretary, Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kadiuk Honored By Community At Farewell Party

HYLO — A surprise farewell party was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kaduik in the Hylo Hall on Wednesday, November 16.

Mr. Kaduik was born in Bukovina, Ukraine in 1895. He lost his mother when he was only six weeks old and was left on orphan at four years, when his father died. He was raised by his uncle and when a lad of 17 came to Canada in 1912.

He travelled around for two years, then came to Alberta in 1914, married in 1919 and settled in the district of Bellis. Mrs. Kaduik was born in Canada.

They decided to move on a homestead with their herd of sheep and some cattle, thus settling in 1935 on a farm south of Hylo. Their many hardships were overcome somehow and now they could even smile about them but during those years many tears were shed and it certainly proved to be difficult at times to feed and clothe eight children. Economizing was a must.

A number of games were enjoyed at the party by old as well as the young, after which lunch was served Then the presentation of a beautiful steam iron and toaster was made to Mr. and Mrs. Kaduik by Mrs. O. Meardi on behalf of the Hylo Community. Everyone wished them good health and good fortune in their new home in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Kaduik thanked the people for the wonderful party and said they would certainly miss all their friends in Hylo. They planned to leave for Edmonton the next day.

Guests present from Noral were Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Henson, Mr. and Mrs. George Skoreyko and Mr. and Mrs. John Skoreyko.

Statue Of Pioneer Priest Shipped Over CNR Lines

A bronze statue of Rev. Louis Gravel, the founder of Gravelbourg, Sask., will be erected there soon to honor the memory of the man who promoted the settlement of that area in 1906. The town itself is named after this pioneering priest.

The statue, which was produced in Italy, arrived in Montreal last week and is being shipped to Gravelbourg over Canadian National Railways lines.

Father Gravel, who was born at Princeville, Que., in 1868, became interested in the repatriation of French Canadians who had migrated to the eastern United States to work as cotton operators there. As a result of his efforts, some 25,000 of them were persuaded to come to Western Canada and settle in the Gravelbourg area. He also played a leading role in the founding of Gravelbourg College which has since become well known throughout Saskatchewan for its athletic and scholastic achievements.

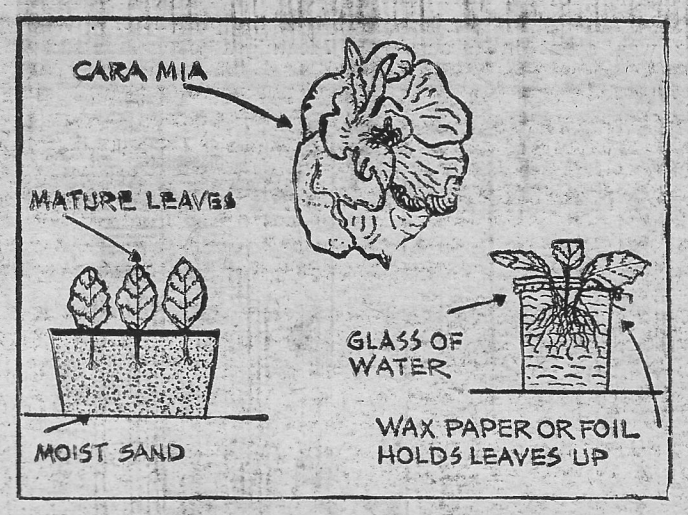
Garden Graph

By DEAN HALLIDAY



MULTIPLYING AFRICAN VIOLETS

Once you start growing African violets you want more and more. There are so many beautiful ones available. Shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph is an actual size bloom of Cara Mia. The blue and white double flowers are of enormous size.

Part of the popularity of the African violet as a house plant is the fun of growing new plants from the leaves of an old plant.

Anyone can multiply African violets.

One method shown calls for using mature leaves, picked from the base of the plant. The leaf stems are inserted into a pot of moist sand, as shown. Vermiculite, peat or a good garden soil can also be used.

A jelly jar placed over the top will keep the humidity constant and thus hasten the rooting process.

Another propagating method entails fitting a piece of foil or wax paper over a glass of water. Secure it in place with rubber bands or string. Slit two, three or four holes in the paper, according to the number of leaves you wish to "plant." Insert the stems of the leaves through the holes so that each stem is immersed in water, as shown. Maintain the water level until the roots are formed. Keep the glass in a warm light place.

When the roots are about an inch long, the plants are ready to be potted, each in a small flower pot of its own.

Athabasca-Sponsored Resolution To Be Presented To Legislature

ATHABASCA — First item on the agenda was for the committee as a whole to tender congratulations to chairman Ed Parr on his re-election as president of the Alberta School Trustees' Association.

Ed Loxam reported on the convention held recently in Edmonton and commented on several of the resolutions, especially the one sponsored by the county of Athabasca. It passed the convention, but will be presented to the next session of the legislative assembly before it can be made law. It reads:

"Whereas it is obviously unfair that, in accordance was present provincial statutes, a member of a county school committee for a town or village continues to hold office for some months after he is defeated at an election, and;

"Whereas in the event of a resignation, a new member elected during the town or village elections in October, cannot take office until April 3rd, leaving the town or village without representation on the school committee for several months;

"Therefore Be It Resolved that provision be made, by an amendment of the statutes, to enable a newly elected town or village representative to a county school committee to take office on the fifth Monday following the fourth Wednesday in October."

The convention also heard a report on the Cameron Commission.

Enlargement to the Smith school site was dropped when the NAR refused sale of the property.

Two years ago the unused Ferguson school was sold to the community club, school only. Arrangements are now being made to include the site in the sale of the community club.

Decision was made that all surplus vacated school property will be advertised for sale.

In-service training for teachers and staff was discussed at some length and left for the next meeting.

Time was spent in discussing school skating rinks. Quotations were received from local firms and from one firm in Edmonton. The latter bid much lower for the materials. It is the intention of the committee to provide all schools with rinks (with the exception of Rochester and Smith, which schools have adequate facilities now). Ten rinks will be provided in all.

Sewers at Perryvale and Colinton are giving a bit of trouble. Ditches will be dug and straw procured for insulation purposes.

Bus route complaints were dealt with.

The weekly Smith progress report showed 35% complete. Comments on these reports were most favorable. A report was made by chairman of the property management committe, Val Brackenridge.

Gate pick-up service is being provided for the winter months and the following circular will accompany the bus drivers' cheques in November:

"The county school committee has directed that, effective from Nov. 15 to April 1, or "spring break-up", gate pick-up and delivery school bus service shall be provided, where feasible to do so.

"Operators are requested to make route extensions, in order to provide this service, only where road conditions are suitable. Extensions to routes must be listed individualy on the November bus operator's report, with respective increases in mileage indicated.

'Your co-operation in supplying complete and accurate information will be appreciated."

Superintendent M. G. Gault made his report, which was brief. He had made eight inspections during the month.

Boarding allowance rates were discussed at length and tabled to the next meeting.

The committee will recommend to the county council purchase of a bus for Route 38 at Grassland to replace the present one.

Meetnig adjourned at 10:20 p.m.

Careless Driving Charge Against Lac La Biche Man

Norman Walberg of Lac la Biche was charged with careless driving, when he appeared before Magistrate Franchuk in court Nov. 18. The case arose out of an accident that took place near the curling rink of the town on the night of Oct. 23.

In giving evidence Walberg stated that, accompanied by a lady companion, he was driving into town at night. Near the curling rink as he attempted to pass two pedestrains on the road one of them, James Quintal, waved his hands and threw himself against the vehicle. The man suffered a broken leg as well as a broken arm. The accused had his evidence corroberated by his companion in the car at the time of the accident.

The crown had only one witness, Harry Cardinal, who stated he was with the injured man at the time of the accident but at the moment of the impact was looking in the opposite direction.

The accused man was represented by his barrister, J. Dimos, Edmonton. Mr. Quintal, who is still confined to hospital in Edmonton was represented by Constable C. H. Calvert, acting for the Crown.

MLA Opens Vermilion Valley Lodge

A. Cooper Cuts Ribbon In Ceremony Of Dedication To Senior Citizens

VERMILION — Amid an atmosphere of luxury and sociability the Vermilion Valley senior citizens lodge was officially opened Nov. 9 when the member of the legislature for Vermilion consituency, Ashley H. Cooper, completed the short program of speeches with the words "I dedicate this lodge to the security, happiness and contentment of our beloved senior citizens."

The interesting program was tied in with provincial broadcast and, immediately after, the Hon. Alfred Hooke, acting premier, announced that the scrolls would be presented to the chairman of the foundation, Ashley Cooper, MLA, with appropriate remarks presented Melvin Hill, chairman of the Vermilion Valley Foundation, with the beautiful framed lithographed scroll.

Melvin Hill, who acted as chairman for the afternoon and to whom great credit is due for organization of all the details of the event, spoke briefly and called on the following representatives of various organizations: Rev. W. A. Champness, Rev. Dr. Layton, Lieut. D. Reynolds and James Champion, all representing churches and all of whom spoke briefly, paying tribute to a government whose great interest was in the welfare of its citizens. Mr. Hill also called on Mayor-elect C. J. McCormick of Vermilion, and two members of the local management committee of the Lodge, E. A. Locke and E. H. Buckingham. Rev. W. A. Champness gave the dedication prayer and MLA Cooper then cut the ribbon, signifying the official opening of the new and luxurious home.

Greeting the guests on their arrival was the matron, Mrs. Winnifred Torrance. Following the program women of numerous groups of the town served coffee and refreshments in a social atmosphere which was greatly enjoyed by the estimated 200 present. The main sitting room was opened up into the large dining room to accommodate the crowd, while many also sat in the games room and the library. The committee had radios in each room so that the program was followed throughout.

Mr. Wozny, Nampa Resident, Dies In Blaze That Damages His Home

Mr. Wozny, a resident of this district for the past nine years, died last week in a fire that damaged his home here.

The blaze was first noticed in the attic at about 10:30 p.m. The fire alarm was turned in and firemen quickly had it under control.

The Wozny family was visiting at a neighbor's home at the time.

Mr. Wozny went back to the house shortly after midnight and, when he did not return, neighbors went to look for him. They found him in the cellar where he had suffocated from the smoke. The firemen were again called to fight the smouldering fire.

Mr. Wozny is survived by his wife and three small children. All his other relatives are living in the old country.

The Wozny family came to Canada nine years ago and have lived here since.

Funeral services were held at the Greek Orthodox Church at Guay School.

TIPS FOR PARENTS

By EDITH HENRY—Parents Education Associates

THE booth was small but colorful, and therefore attractive. Along its back wall were neat stacks of bright pamphlets bearing as titles—Play and Playmates, Stuttering, Thumb Sucking, Discipline, Adolescence and The Young Adult.

Other titles marked similar brochures on the table in front.

The booth was far from home. It had been set up to represent part of Canada's contribution to a great American Public Health Convention, and displayed our "Child Training" series put out by the Mental Health Division of our Federal Government.

I stood back and watched the milling crowds. Attracted perhaps by the color, perhaps because the exhibit was Canadian, they stopped one by one to look and read.

I was proud to be a Canadian when I heard the enthusiastic remarks. "These are good," came over and over again.

This past spring, at the request of Atul Belaridutt, founder and superintendent of the Asram mental hospital in Calcutta, the same little booth appeared in the hospital's Jubilee Exhibition.

The Jubilee, in conjunction with the Indian Psychiatric Society was opened by the Mayor of Calcutta and addressed by the State Governor (Miss) Padmaja Naidu.

THE Homemaker

By BERTHA M. McCUTCHEON

Wheat and oats are good in ready-to-eat cereals.

B. McCutcheon

Puffed Wheat: Refined ready-to-eat product practically free of bran. In 'puffing' almost all moisture is removed and starch granules are pulverized. May be sold unsweetened or pre-sweetened. May also be sugar coated.

Ready-to-eat Oat Cereals: Made from doughs based on oat flour and given a wide range of shapes and flavors. Some are "puffed."

Wheat Flakes: Label information indicates whether made from whole grain, fragments of grain such as bran, steamed, rolled and toasted to give flakes crisp, curly, sometimes blistered texture. May be unsweetened or have added ingredients such as malt and sugars which give distinctive flavor and color. Some are sugar coated.

Wheat Shreds: Differs from most ready-to-eat cereals in that it is whole grain. Although loose wheat shreds are available, they are most commonly found pressed into biscuit form of various shapes and sizes.

HOW TO BUY BREAKFAST CEREALS

1. Make sure package is clean and dry.
2. Buy right size package for family needs.
3. Read the label carefully for food value, for cooking directions (if needed), for identity of grain, and other pertinent facts.
4. Compare the cost per serving of the different kinds of cereal with their food value.

HOW TO STORE BREAKFAST CEREALS

1. Store uncooked cereals in a cool, dry and convenient place in kitchen.
2. Store bulk cereals in a covered container such as a glass jar to avoid contamination by the larder beetle or other insects.
3. Store packaged cereals in the original container.
4. Keep waxed paper lining rolled down and lid of box closed. This keeps cereals from becoming stale.
5. Examine all cereals frequently in hot weather to check their condition. Whole grain cereals should be kept in a cool, dry place to prevent rancidity.

Chambers Of Commerce Gain Support As Interest In Scenic Route Mounts

McLENNAN — Delegates representing the McLennan and High Prairie Chambers of Commerce attending the fall meeting of the Associated Chambers in Dawson Creek recently, reported success in gaining support of that Association for their resolution in urging the rebuilding of Highway No. 2 along Lesser Slave Lake. The delegates concern in urging priority support for this Scenic Route over the newly proposed route linking Grande Prairie and Hinton was prompted by the stated government policy of building one modern highway into the north at a time.

Officials of the Lesser Slave-Peace District Tourist Association welcome this support, which, coupled with their own resolution. the support of the Alberta Chambers of Commerce, and a more recent unanimous vote of a large group of businessmen, representing towns between Girouxville and Slave Lake; all urging the rebuilding of the Lesser Slave Lake Route; give some indication of the rising demand for modernization of this highway.

The rebuilding and hardsurfacing of this route is viewed as not only being long overdue for the sake of the continuous populated areas it serves, but also as an excellent alternate route to the Alaska, Hart and McKenzie Highways. With the completion of such a route together with the widespread publicity being gained by the Tourist Association's maps throughout the United States and Western Canada, billing it as the Scenic Lesser Slave Lake Route through the Heart of the Peace River Country, the tourist trade and traffic will be multiplied many times over, with corresponding benefits to the country as a whole.

Plans are now being made for the publication of an improved edition for 1961 Tourist Map, and all towns sponsoring, or wishing to sponsor the next issues, should contact the Association and forward any data and information they wish to have included concerning their communities.

Public Welfare Services Explained By L. Comley At Lions Club Meeting

At a recent meeting of the Lac la Biche Lions Club, L. G. Comley, senior welfare representative of the local office of the provincial government, was engaged as a guest speaker. The meeting took the form of a supper engagement at the York Hotel dining room.

Lion President E. J. Woynarowich called upon Lion Rev. S. Munro to introduce the Lions' guest. In his introductory remarks, Mr. Munro referred to Mr. Comley's previous work as a lecturer in religious art, his pre-theological and theological education in United States and his ordination to the Episcopal priesthood, engaged in the latter in Canada prior to his entry into the field of public welfare.

In his address, Mr. Comley first emphasized the wide range of work administered under the service of public welfare. Enlarging upon this statement, Mr. Comley described the work of the department of pensions which is concerned with provincial and federal-provincial pensions. He mentioned the federal-provincial provision of old age assistance for persons between 65 and 70 years of age and the income limitations governing its issuance. Reference was also made to the federal-provincial blind persons' allowance for persons over 18 with 10 years residence in Canada. The distinguishing marks of three easily confused pensions were then pointed out: namely, widow's pension, mother's allowance and family allowance. The first, it was pointed out, was for women widowed by death, illness or desertion and between 60 and 65 years of age; the second for women widowed and left with the care of children; the third, the regular provision to which all parents or guardians of children are entitled with which all are so familiar.

Under disability pensions two types were pointed out, the one federal-provincial and the other provincial. The first is a provision for permanent disability and the second for temporary disability covering at least 12 months. In the latter case rehabilitation is a possibility.

All pensioners are entitled to medical and hospital services for themselves, spouse and children under 18. Drugs, however are excluded. Also pensioners are free to will their estates as they deem fit. No claim is made upon it due to their receiving welfare.

Treaty Indians, as a federal responsibility, are eligible only for federal - provincial pensions. Non-treaty Indians and Metis are eligible for all these pensions. Each year there is a review of each pension case which accounts for a good deal of the travelling time of the local offices.

Mr. Comley turned from pensions to the next major subject, Child Welfare. He mentioned the the basic elements of compassion and discernment involved here. Apprehension was described as taking two forms; temporary wardship for a period of a year and permanent wardship. The former cases are reviewed annually to see whether wardship will be continued another year or if home circumstances can provide for their return. If home deterioration continues the children may become permanent wards. Local improvement districts are responsibile for all the children in the area. This office is presently responsibile for LID 102 and half of LID 121. Local apprehending officers for the LID are the RCMP. In Lac la Biche, Constable Calvert is the local welfare officer. A third method of wardship is through written consent. Cases of children born out of wedlock must be investigated and mothers offered counsel. If the mother wishes to release her child it is surrendered to the superintendent of child welfare permanently. Child welfare work also deals with arranging paternity agreements with putative fathers and adoption of wards.

Mr. Comley mentioned the Metis rehabilitation branch but, as he was not directly a part of this branch, did not go into any detail.

The last aspect treated was that of public assistance. This is the oldest and most basic of welfare services, Mr. Comley stated. It recognizes that no other help can be fully effective unless the basic necessities of life are provided. The problems of society that leads to welfare work are common to all. Where certain persons are grossly affected by these problems, certain aspects of which may be beyound the individual's control, such as local industry shut downs, personality limitations or sudden physical handicap, at least basic necessities must be provided to avoid serious social and personality consequences. Mr. Comley contrasted our religious directives to be compassionate with the heartless attitude of rugged individualism and great emphasis on money that tends to stigmatize the acceptance of assistance. He ventured that public welfare is the price that must be paid for an organized and industrialized society. He scored the attitude that the unfortunate, such as those often classed as "drunkard" or "jailbird" or other socially be-littling title, was unworthy of assistance. He pointed out that any persons in receipt of the many varied pensions offered or allowances were in reality receiving a form of public assistance.

Discussing local work Mr. Comley pointed out that there was no room for double standard in speaking of Metis and non-Metis, as all are made in the image of love and God is love. Through public assistance he expressed the hope that immediate necessities of life would be met for many and that they would be encouraged to raise their living standards. Though not an employment office there is an attempt to find employment for those whom they can place. Among the basic provisions granted have been the health services of doctors and drugs, clothing, books and supplies. The latter two especially for those attending school.

So far the results of the work have been encouraging Mr. Comley stated. They bear out the hope that give them a real chance and they will respond. Most of the public assistance applicants have shown gratifying responsibility. In closing Mr. Comley pointed out that all must give recognition to the worth and dignity of every individual, to the innate desire of every individual to be independent, to the fact that every individual has the ability to change and become established as a self-supporting member of the community if given the help to do so, and the recognition that the welfare of all is dependent on the welfare of the individual.

Lion W. J. Chester offered the thanks of the Lions Club to Mr. Comley for his address.

MLA Opens Pleasant Valley Lodge

matron of the Lodge. The three members of the clergy, Rev. Canon J. G. Gibbons, the Rev. W. G. Zwicker and the Rev. Father F. R. Lane sat flanking the table on the west.

Following the broadcast Mr. Aloisio presented the scrool to Ed Loxam, who accepted it on behalf of the Foundation. Mr. Aloisio said that through the erection of the homes for the senior citizens the people were paying the debts they owed the pioneers and paid tribute to the courage and hard work these people had put into the country in which we now live.

Mr. Loxam spoke briefly thanking the government fo rthe erection of the home.

Rev. Canon Gibbons and Rev. Mr. Zwicker spoke briefly, dedicating the home to the use of the older people. Rev. Father Lane asked the blessing. Mrs. R. W. Mongomery, accompanied by Mrs. R. E. Hall, sang "Bless This House".

Mayor Hunter spoke briefly. He asked Mr. Aloisio to convey the district's appreciation to all in the government. He also paid tribute to the work done by members of the civil service, particularly J. K. G. Austin, who had spent much time in the preparation of the beginnings of the home. He commended Sid Ward for the suggestion of the name, Pleasant Valley, which was adopted. This has a local significance: Meanook is an indian word meaning pleasant valley.

He spoke of the reverence the Chinese civilization has for the ancestors, elders, and those who have gone before. He was happy, he said, to see this trend in Alberta.

Chairman Loxam spoke on behalf of the county. He said it was a pleasure to be "in at the finish" as he had participated in a great deal of ground work in the past two and one-half years. The opening was, he said, unique in the manner in which it was handled. He said that even "outsiders" must feel the contentment hovering over the residents of the lodge. It was a fitting tribute to the pioneers. He expressed the hope that all now in the lodge and those entering in the future find happiness, contentment and security in the home.

Percy Wilson of Athabasca, spoke on behalf of the residents. He urged others who were eligible to take up residents in the lodge. He stressed the residents were not "inmates" but paying guests.

Mrs. George outlined the day's schedule for the residents and invited visitors, at any but meal time. Meal times are 8 a.m., 12 noon, 4:30 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Following the ceremonies, a lunch was served by the members of ladies' organizations, the Legion Auxiliary, the OORP, the Eastern Star and the Kinettes.
